

My Grandpa

My grandpa with his white beard, and thin figure is my role model. He is aged very wise, and has a memory as sharp as a tack. My grandpa is the laugh in my happiness.

When I look at my grandpa I see the nicest person I ever met. My grandpa makes me smile everytime I look at him, and he also makes me think I'm talking to God, and how generous he is.

He can win an award for nicest person in the world. He is very smart, serious, and funny. I can ask my grandpa and he'll give me an answer quick. I remember all the good times I've had with my grandpa even when he used to change my diapers when they stunk. I think I should always be right next to my grandpa every step of the way.

He is the best at fixing things. When I crash my remote control helicopter he can fix it, and he would always say, "Not a problem," and I thank him for that.

That's why without my grandpa I wouldn't even be here right now.

~Edgar

My Grandma

I look up to my grandma because she works hard and she makes me happy.

She is smart, fun, thankful, giving, awesome, nice, loving. People say my grandma is sweet. She smart because she figures out everything. She is fun because she takes me to a water park. She spends her time at church. She gives people stuff. People say my grandma is sweet. She is nice because she lets me do whatever I want.

She is the goddess of all cleaning and cooking and being the best grandma and making stuff. That's why I love her with all my heart.

~Celeste

My Brother

I look up to my brother Logan. My brother has hair the color of a black crayon. He makes my smile a mile long when he speaks. He is such a role model. That's why I want a little brother to do all the things my big brother did with me and do it with him.

He is fair, nice, helpful, smart, brave, and silly. Mostly every day he tells jokes and makes me laugh, makes good grades, he helps me through tough times, he makes silly faces to cheer me up, and helps me with my homework. I want to be just like hi when I grow up and I'm glad he is my brother. I know my brother is the best brother in the world.

My brother is the king at football. He lets me play football with him and his friends and he could juke out seven people, truck three people, and score four touchdowns. Every time I tell people about my brother I tell them how good he is at football.

That's why my brother is so special. Without him I would be nothing but a sad little boy with no one to play with.

~Lucas

Maggie, My Mom

Her skin is as tan as mine, and she is as still as a rock at her work. She is a nice, wise woman and is fast at typing on a computer. She likes to read books and play with my brother and e. I know her as Mom.

She is fun, awesome, helpful, loving, unselfish, happy and talented. My mom is helpful because she helped clean houses after the Memorial Day flood. She is fun because she sprays a lot of water from the water hose when we are outside. She is awesome because she lets me go around in the neighborhood by myself, and she even lets me ride in a car without a carseat. She is unselfish because she cares about our family. She is happy because she is always happy to be with us. She is talented because she can do things we can't. She is loving because she loves me and my brother.

My mom loves to garden because she likes to be outside and active. She also likes to grow watermelons and other vegetables for her garden. She also likes to get dirty when she is gardening in the dirt.

That's why I'm so glad I'm loved and to be a daughter to a nice mom and family. I love my mom a very much.

~Annie